

Curves in the Road (The Southern Devotion Series Book 2)

**This book is part of a New Adult Series. Each book will have an ending though, no Cliffhangers! They will all be New Adult and have similar themes with crossover characters*** When you build a road from one place to another, it wont always be a straight line. Sometimes you have to add curves to move around the obstacles. Life is like that as well. Sometimes we have a straight path of what we want in life and we do everything we can to follow that path until suddenly a mountain appears and we have to veer off course to get around it. Even though we face those curves, it doesnt mean we wont end up on the same path we started. Then again, sometimes we discover roads that we never knew existed and that will get us to where we want to be.

Derrick Collins lives in Nashville TN with his six year old daughter, Katelyn. Derrick found love once before in a girl named Mary Jane, until she moved away to Florida to fulfill her dreams of becoming an engineer. Derricks life hasnt been the same since Mary Jane left two years ago. His days are spent working long hours in order to give his daughter a good life. His social life is non-existent these days and hes decided its time for a change. Derrick sets out to find his happily ever after once and for all. Mary Jane Evans life took a different path than she ever dreamed. She moved to Florida for an intern program at Disney. She left her life in Nashville that included childhood friends, family, and the first man she ever loved, Derrick Collins. Now its time to decide if she will move back to that life or stay in the new one she has created for herself. Will Derrick still be waiting for her? What if shes been gone too long and he no longer cares? Can these two find their paths back to each other or were there too many Curves in the Road?
