

ROMANCE: My Black Shiksa Goddess: Marian: African American Contemporary Romance, BWWM, Short Story Romance

YOU ARE MY BLACK SHIKSA GODDESS Salaciously Seductive. Pure African American Romance Novel. Short Read. Hav is a visiting fellow at a Historically Black University in North Carolina. Teaching is his life. He has decided to dedicate his career to stamping out antisemitism by educating others in the traditional education system. He is emotionally committed to his life long goal to establishing courses of studies in Jewish Literature in as many scholastic institutions across America as he possibly can. But will falling in love with Marian, one of his black students blemish his clean teaching record for all time? Excerpt: In one swift movement she was beside him, her palm on his shoulder. Hav looked at her. She gazed into his eyes. The current of attraction between them was suddenly too strong to ignore. Their bodies were an inch from touching. Dammit, Hav thought. Where is that awkward, anonymous interruption that keeps two people who like each other from kissing that you always see happening in movies or reading in romance novels that happen just about now get to? He needed one. Bad. I thought you were at your bf? Hav crooked a raised brow at her. There is none. I was just messing with you. Hav paid no attention the song of elation that made his heart soar on hearing that. He sucked in a calming breath. Then, she leaned into him and he felt her hand palm his penis. He sucked in a breath. Hard. He shook his head, albeit uncommitted to his own doubts. You dont want to do that Marian. She bent her lips closer to his, Do what? He bent closer to her, This. His arm went around her waist and he mashed his body into her. His erection was at her stomach, cupped in her hand and growing fiercer with the need to be inside her by the second. The kiss was urgent, like there was no time left for either of them to savor the niceties of courtship. Her mouth opened up for him. Ready and waiting for him to explore her more. Hav reached down inside her bikini bottom and fondled her sex. She moaned in his mouth. With his other hand he reached inside her top and grabbed her breast roughly. Her arms went around his neck and shoulder and she thrust her pelvis to his groin.
