

Reframing The Defense Outsourcing Debate: Merging Government Oversight With Industry Partnership

This report, published by the Peace Operations Institute, shifts the discussion of the governments role in defense contract oversight away from an exclusive focus on guarding against contractor malpractice - an important issue that has nevertheless been exaggerated in the media - towards an understanding of contract oversight as a process of government-industry partnership. Here, contract oversight is understood in terms of specific technical problems that can be resolved or ameliorated by proactive cooperation between government and industry partners.
